Industrial Action should be avoided at all costs

The Malta Chamber of Commerce Industry and Enterprise and the Malta Employers' Association appealed to all stakeholders in the Airmalta-ALPA issue to engage in constructive discussions and avoid the planned disruption of service. Both the Chamber and the Association maintained that the problems faced by the airline are structural and have been long in the making and cannot be solved by engaging in disruptive industrial action. Any strike action will only damage the airline further and increase the possibility of closure that will not be in anyone's interest, particularly when one considers the domino affect this will have on the entire country. The constituted bodies augured that the meeting scheduled between the government and the unions will yield positive results.
