workshop OBJECTIVE

CSR stands for corporate social responsibility, that is, an organisation's initiative to assess and take responsibility for its effects on social and environmental well-being. The term applies to efforts that go beyond what is required by regulators or relevant lobby groups.

This workshop will delve into ways in which, through the introduction of effective CSR measures and initiatives, companies can become more in tune with modern demands while enjoying numerous benefits such as cost reductions, increased employee retention, higher productivity, improved brand visibility, and ultimately making the organisation operate more sustainably.

Proposed Agenda:

- Benefits of companies embracing CSR
- ISO 26000: 2010, Guidance on Social Responsibility: An Overview
- Panel Discussion – How can companies enhance their CSR efforts?

target AUDIENCE

To all employers, managers and HR practitioners.

tutor's BIO

Dr. Roberta Lepre' is a lawyer by profession with experience in general civil and commercial law.

Dr Lepre set up Weave Consulting in 2007, as a boutique firm originally focusing on equality and diversity. Over the years, and following successful completion of various projects, Weave Consulting evolved to offer CSR services, particularly CSR audits to forward thinking companies – the offer being developed on the firm belief that a well implemented CSR strategy produces tangible solutions to a variety of challenges which business must overcome in order to remain competitive.

She has served as Director of Victim Support Malta, an NGO which provides support to victims of crime. Other past roles include serving as a member of the Guardian for Future Generations, a high level body set up under the Sustainable Development Act, Chairperson of the Platform for Human Rights Organisations in Malta, and member of the Commission on Domestic Violence.
